New Beginnings!

The decisions you make today will determine the story you'll tell tomorrow.

I think back to the time after my "O" levels when I was considering whether to study in a polytechnic or Junior College (JC). Most of my friends have opted to go poly and I was very tempted to follow them. But since there was a long 6-month break for every new poly student before it starts in July, I decided to check out a JC just for 3 months.

Honestly, I cannot imagine how different my life would be today had I gone to work or study in another place! Because it was in St. Andrew's Junior College that I found God (or should I say God found me). And it was also because of a dear classmate in that college that I eventually came to attend that lovely family church called Shekinah, and ended up pastoring that church today. And of course, it was also because of that college that I became part of the college's Chinese Society and eventually met that lovely girl who later became my BFF (best friend forever) and wife!

Our decisions really matter. It's really amazing to me how those seemingly simple decisions we make today impact the stories we tell tomorrow.

As you enter into the last 3 months of 2017, I pray that this will be true of you:

Hebrews 12:2 – "Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the Author and perfecter of our faith."

Just imagine: Wouldn't it be amazing if you let Jesus – the Son of God – becomes the personal Author of your life and help you live the story that God wanted you to tell?

May the Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make his face shine on you and be gracious to you; the Lord turn his face toward you and give you peace. Amen.
