Your Punctuality Honours God

Amanda Wong's Baptism Testimony

Before I came to Christ, I was someone who took things for granted and never really appreciated what the people around me had done for me. I never really appreciated my parents and loved ones and others who loved and cared for me. I was hot tempered and impatient as well. I was clueless and constantly seek meaning to my life.

I came to know Christ through my friends during polytechnic days in 2004 and started attending church regularly after the merger between CGC and Shekinah. After I came to know Jesus, I started to experience a gradual change in my life and character. I felt a change in my temperament and become more patient. It felt like I was blind before and I could see now. I am thankful for the blessings that God had blessed me with (my parents, husband, unborn son and friends). I now know that because Jesus first loved me, that's why I can continue to love the people around me.

Thank you to my parents, husband, some of my in laws and friends for coming to witness my baptism and celebrate with me. Thank you!

Surrender Sinful Anger to God

Contributed by Yamei

Scripture:

My dear brothers and sisters, take note of this: Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak and slow to become angry, because human anger does not produce the righteousness that God desires. - James 1:19-20 (NIV)

Observation:

- Our tongue has incredible power
- We can use it to bring blessings and life or curses and death
- Trials/triggers will become the occasion for sinning against each other/one another as they stir our fear, self-pity, envy, confusion and especially anger
- James wanted Christians to change undesirable habits and behaviours to bring about the righteous life that God desires as human anger and divine righteousness are typically at odds with each other
- Anger will tempt us to do evil and we must recognize that such temptation is neither originating from God's will (James 1:13) nor achieving anything for God's will.

Application:

Be honest about our own anger, but do not give in to one's temper. To pray and ask the Lord to change us, heal us, and transform us into peacemakers and wise followers of Jesus.

Prayer:

Dear Lord, I would like to pray that in whatever difficult circumstances we might be in, You will grant us the wisdom to be slow to become angry so that we don't say things we don't mean. Let us be a blessing to others with our words, building people up instead of destroying. In Jesus' name I pray. Amen!
